

MOSSBELLY open research sessions with Angela Schubot

Angela invites movers and dedicated humans into an open space of research and experiments.

Angela's desire for her new process „MOSSBELLY" is to explore ways of deep embodiment of non-human forces in us and around us and to dedicate to our ongoing mutual relationship with them.

After meeting a lot of plant beings in the past and almost leaving the physical body behind into other meeting grounds with them, she wants to come back to the body and to the dance.

Please be welcome into an ecology of shifting bodies in space in a very open and experimental setting with clear intentions.

It's for free. Come as often as you want. Stay as long as you want. If you want bring plants, lichens, mushrooms....

open research sessions are at Dovercourt house, first floor, 805 Dovercourt Rd, Toronto, ON M6H 2X4
